The 1991-1992
Chariot Yearbook

Opening:

Like most of the things we humans beings tend to measure ourselves and our world against, a year is basically an abstract. We give ourselves a pair of markers, a beginning point and an ending point, then give ourselves whatever is in between to accomplish something or a set of somethings. As it turns out we usually wind up doing a whole lot more between those two points than we plan or expect to do.

Sometimes along the way we loose those little particulars, those little scraps and pieces that gave flavor to the way it was. That's basically what this book is for, to capture those little pieces that outlined, characterized, and defined what it was to be alive at this school at the junction of the years 1991 and 1992. The markers we set are the beginning of the school year and its end. So flip through and enjoy the book. This is where it all begins.

To the Members of the Class of 1992:

Congratulations to each and every one of you. Your years of hard work and perseverance have paid off. With your UNH degree in hand, you are set to embark on the journey through the rest of your life. You have been well prepared, and you are ready for success.

Your final year at the University of New Haven has coincided with my first year as President of this fine institution. You and your fellow students, along with our faculty and staff, have welcomed me with warmth and enthusiasm, leaving me with many fond memories of the 1991-1992 school year. I trust your rememberance of this year will be just as happy. I am fortunate to have inherited a financially healthy, well-run institution. My goal during my first months has been to build on that base by opening new lines of communication between the President and the many campus constituencies, especially the various student bodies. To that end, I have instituted a Students First policy campuswide, and I have made access to the Presidents office a hallmark of that policy.

A student Ombudsman, reporting directly to me, is now in place and I am meeting regularly with both undergraduate and graduate students to discuss student concerns, seek suggestions for improvements on campus, and just talk about whatever may be of interest at the moment.

I am really excited about the results of these meetings to date. You have given me much to think about and have made excellent recommendations that we have been able to act upon almost immediately. I look forward to continuing these fruitful exchanges.

As I stated in my inaugural address last fall, I believe this University is poised and ready to change and grow-- to move toward greatness in our sphere of academic enterprise during the 1990's. I envision new centers of academic excellence at UNH, expanded educational opportunities for all those who seek them, increased cultural and social opportunities on campus, new student housing, and an enlarged and beautified setting--an urban village, if you will--on Allington hill.

As we work to implement this vision, it is my fond desire that you, the members of the class of 1992, will remain closely connected to your alma mater and to me so that you may share in the excitement of these efforts in the years ahead.

I look forward to hearing from and about you as you progress in your chosen careers. In the meantime, please accept my best wishes for great success in all your endeavors and for a sparkling and eventful life.

Sincerely,
Lawrence J. DeNardis
President

After a brief summer orientation program usually during of August, all freshmen and transfer students are invited to the Fall Horizons orientation program. The program is primarily designed to make the new students familiar with the campus and introduce them to their classmates. Group exercises led by hand selected orientation leaders round out the day's events.

"This class of 1995 will always have a special place in my heart because it is my first class as president of this university." - President Lawrence DeNardis, from his welcoming address to the Fall 1991 class.

Liz, what exactly are you looking at?

New President Selected

Following last year's announcement that Phillip Kaplan, president of UNH for the past 18 years, would be resigning in August of 1991, the Board of Governors set out to find a suitable replacement. Their search ended with the selection of Dr. Lawrence DeNardis. His background includes eight years as a Connecticut state senator, 16 years as an associate professor and chairman of the political science department at Albertus Magnus College, and extensive work with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. In his first year at UNH, president DeNardis has made a "students first" approach to school management his first priority.

The Inauguration of Dr. Lawrence J. DeNardis Fifth President of The University of New Haven

In a ceremony reminiscent of inaugurations of heads of British Universities, Dr. Lawrence Joseph DeNardis was formally acknowledged as the fifth president of the University of New Haven. The ceremony was attended by dignitaries from colleges and universities from across the northeast. Dr DeNardis succeeds Dr. Phillip Kaplan, who resigned his 18 year presidency this in August of 1991.

Construction on Campus

The university is in the first stages of executing a multi-phased campus beautification plan. The construction of a brick wall around the campus was begun during the summer of 91 and is nearing completion. The new building on the main campus, which will house admission, financial aid, and day and evening administration was also completed this year. Several other significant pieces of renovation such as the new portico on the side of Maxy Hall, and the painting of the columns at the entrance to Maxy Hall were also completed this year.

The University of New Haven: The Year in Review

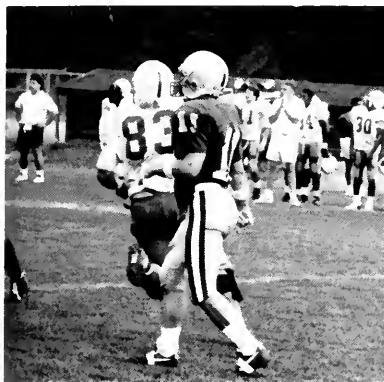

The University of New Haven underwent some major changes this past year and took significant steps towards building a better school for tomorrow's students. With the resignation of president Phillip Kaplan in August of 1991, the Board of Governors began a search for a new chief executive. Their search came to an end with Lawrence J. DeNardis, who was inaugurated as the fifth president of UNH on November 15th. Alex Sommers ended his term as Provost, and was replaced by James Uebelacker. In addition James Martin, Dean of Student Life and Admissions, went on to pursue other interests. He was succeeded by William Leere in his role as Dean for Student Services and by Steven Briggs in his capacity as Dean of Admissions.

The University's Campus Beautification Project went according to plan this year. A new portico was constructed on the Orange Avenue entrance of Maxcy Hall. A stately brick wall was built along Orange Avenue, with an entrance way made for the Campbell Ave entrance. A new admissions building began construction in September. The building will house the offices of Continuing Education, Admissions,

and Financial Aid

The university faculty received numerous accolades this year. Jeffery Greene of the English department had his book To The Left of the Worshiper published by AliceJames Books in October. Jerry Allen, chairman of the communications and marketing department, was elected to the board of directors of the World Communication Association. M. Jerry Kenig, Dean of the School of Engineering, was elected chairman of the Northeastern Section of the American Society of Engineering Educators. Elisabeth van Dyke, professor of tourism and travel, was elected chairperson of the scholarship committee of the The Governors Tourism Council, which awards two $500 scholarships to Connecticut high school seniors interested in attending a Connecticut college to pursue a degree in travel and tourism.

The university welcomed 520 freshmen to campus this September. The Chargers won a stunning 41-34 victory against Central Connecticut which put a cap on an excellent homecoming weekend. The UNH comedy series continued this year with the social committee scheduling weekly comedians in Dodds theater.

A heated and controversial election in May saw Jason Mumbach elected as the new Day Student Government President, beating Day Student Government Treasurer David Ferto by a margin of five votes. May Day festivities featured The Spin Doctors and One. Graduation exercises took place in the gym this year, and the Commencement Speaker was Gwendolyn Stewart King, the U.S. Commissioner of Social Security.

The Marvin K. Peterson Library

The Marvin K. Peterson Library, named in honor of a former university president, was opened in 1974. It includes three floors of reading space, stacks, and reference areas. The UNH library has approximately 300,000 volumes on campus plus collections in off-campus centers. The library subscribes to hundreds of journals and uses telefacsimile to transmit articles between its own and other libraries across the country. The main library is a U.S. government documents depository library and selects approximately one third of the U.S. government's yearly output. Under reciprocal agreements and contracts, UNH students may borrow materials from other college and university libraries in the area. The article storage area in the basement is a common meeting ground for many groups of students who wish to study in a group. The upper floor allows for a more private and quiet atmosphere.

THE SPORTS SPOT

The Sports Spot, otherwise known as the Tavern to some of us older students, is a small restaurant in the student center. It is a focal point of social activity for both day and evening students, who can come in to eat, play a few video games, or just watch television for a while between classes. During the year the Sports Spot, in conjunction with the Social Committee, hosted a series of live bands on Thursday nights.

Candid

This is where the yearbook staff takes its revenge!

(Just kidding) Really, this part of the book is about all those aspects of college life that don't include studies, athletics, extra curricular activities, or anything else. To those of you who were lucky enough, or unlucky enough as the case may be, to get caught by one of our photographers, we appreciate your sense of humor.

ORITY

We, the day students of the University of New Haven, do hereby declare and establish a Student Government. By this declaration, we seek to independent-promise a democratic citizenship for every individual student and to contribute to the social and academic welfare of the Student Body. Further, it is our belief that each student shall be afforded the opportunity to actively participate in the governmental function regardless of age, race, material status, physical handicap, sex, religion, national origin or political eology."

DSG Government Election

Dave Fetto

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

For those of you who don't know me, allow me this opportunity to introduce myself and my ideas that will make our campus a more comfortable and enjoyable atmosphere for all of us. My name is David Fetto and I am an accounting major and am currently the treasurer of the Day Student Government. I am running to be your president for this upcoming school year. I have been involved in the university since the first day I walked on campus. I have been a senator of the DSG and am President of the UNH cycling club. This list goes on, these are just a few of my contributions to our campus.

Student unity; tradition, a strong sense of pride and student participations are among the items needed to continue the university's growth. We need to ignite the flame that will burn out all of the student apathy and segregation and forge the university through the 90's. This flame will allow us to take control of our own future, wherever and whatever our future may be. On April 21, 22, 23 your future is at hand. Vote FETTO for president.

Jason Mumbach

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

Why should you vote for Jason Mumbach? The answer is simple, commitment to you. Actions speak louder than words. Over the past year my actions as a senator have made a clear and resounding statement. That statement has been "Let's do things fair and let's do things right!" I think that more people are not involved in this school because they do not think that what they are saying is being heard. This year we have seen physical and psychological barriers erected throughout the student government, all in the name of "improvement". These new "improvements" have, either by accident or design, isolated the very people we are here to serve, you. My idea of improvement is tearing down the walls which currently separate us, listening to what you have to say, and having listened, act. As President of the Day Student Government I would improve the social calendar to meet the needs of commuter and residential students, put real decision making power back into the hands of the students, and make this a student government people will be proud of. If you want a change, vote for Jason Mumbach.

Sue Solkoske

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

For those of you who do not know me, my name is Sue Solkoske, and I am running for Day Student Government president. In the past, I have been involved on campus as a DSG Senator and as an orientation leader. Currently, I am the Presidential Assistant of the Day Student Government and I am also the Vice-President of Chi Kappa Rho Sorority.

I feel that I can further demonstrate my leadership qualities if I were to be elected President. As President, I would strive to achieve many goals. I would work within the guidelines of the newly revised Constitution to promote the welfare of the students. I would encourage student unity and involvement because I believe that all of you have ideas and opinions that can make our government a better one. I feel that, together, we can make the changes necessary to increase student participation and pride. Together, we can make our college experience the best that it can possibly be.

I am running for Day Student Government President not only because I believe in myself. I am also running because I believe in you. Vote Sue Solkoske for DSG President.

Dear Editor,
I am glad that the campaign is over, yet I am very excited that I can now begin planning for the upcoming year.

Jason Mumbach
1992-1993 DSG President

---

Thank you for giving me the time to thank the student body of the University of New Haven. I am glad that the campaign is over, yet I am very excited that I can now begin planning for the upcoming year. In addition, I would like to congratulate Jennifer Ignatowski, the new DSG Treasurer, Jane Storey, the new Board of Governors student representative, and the nine new senators. I want to let everyone know that I will not be able to do this on my own. In the fall there will be an election for the 27 vacant senate seats and I will be accepting applications immediately for the following positions:

Vice-President
Executive Assistant
Presidential Assistant

Academic Standards Chair
Communication Board Chair
Film Chair
Food Chair
Government Relations Chair
Housing Chair
Public Relations Chair
Social Chair
Sports Chair

Have a good summer and thank you very much to everyone!

If someone did the same thing for 30 straight years, you would think that he would get tired or bored of it. But, Head Coach Frank Vieira has yet to grow weary of winning seasons as he piloted his Chargers to a winning season in 1992, something that the 30-year veteran has done each year since he started the program in 1963.

In addition to posting 19 wins, New Haven went to post-season play for the 16th time in the last 17 years. The Chargers received a bid to the 1992 ECAC Championship Tournament and advanced to the championship round before succumbing to Adelphi University. Several Chargers developed into outstanding players over the course of 1992, including senior pitcher Ken Klee. The lefthander pitched in all four ECAC tournament games, earning a win and a save, and posted a 7-4 record with a 2.70 ERA, both of which tied him for the team lead. Freshman Justin Powell was a pitcher to equal Klee's feats, posting a 7-3 record. Powell capped his season by earning the 1992 New England Collegiate Conference Rookie of the Year award.

Junior third baseman Tim Burrows and sophomore outfielder Fred Baldieri also earned All-NECC honors, both being named to the first team. Burrows ended the year with a .333 batting average and a team high 24 RBI. Baldieri was the team's leading hitter, among regular starters, hitting .378 with 23 RBI and a team high 45 hits. Baldieri was also the team's most successful base stealer, recording nine thefts in 12 attempts.

Senior Dan Lynch returned to the starting lineup and promptly contributed to the New Haven cause. Lynch threw out more base runners this season than he did in 1991, playing 11 less games. He batted .290 in 20 games with one double, one homer and 14 RBI. His most memorable moment came against Southern Connecticut when the catcher stroked an inside-the-park grand slam, helping UNH post a 9-1 victory.

All in all, the Chargers turned in another successful season in 1992 although they fell short of receiving their 19th NCAA tournament bid. However, New Haven fans were pleased with the team's 30th straight winning record.

THE FINE & PERFORMING ARTS SOCIETY was developed by students for students and community members interested in the theater and fine arts. Its main focus is to bring the university's campus a broad spectrum of the arts and generate an interest and appreciation of them in its students.

Career Fair

Every year the Career Development Office invites employers from around the state to look for potential employees from the student population. This year the Culinary Institute of America, Taco Bell, McDonalds, and several other corporations sent recruiters.

Leadership Development Weekend

For the past two years the Office of Student Activities has been sponsoring a leadership development weekend. Selected students are taken to a retreat center where they work on interpersonal skills, teamwork building, and discuss leadership issues within the university.

AIDS Benefit Auction

For the second year in a row UNH presented its "Night of a Hundred Stars" auction to benefit AIDS research. Student hosts were Cathy Lewis and David Motta. Celebrities from across the country donated autographed photos, cartoons, scripts, even articles of clothing. This year the auction raised more than $1,000 for this very worthy cause. Proceeds from the auction went to the Foundation for AIDS Research, the Stuart B. McKinney Foundation, and the AIDS Interfaith Network.

Chi Kappa Rho Fashion Show

This year the sisters of the Chi Kappa Rho sorority put on their 26th annual fashion show to benefit the Virginia M. Parker scholarship. This scholarship is given out at the annual awards ceremony in May to a deserving woman in the UNH community. This year Macy's, J.C. Penny, G. Fox, and many more local clothing stores loaned their items for the event. In addition, many students and staff volunteered their time to model.

King Verdict Sparks Rally in the Student Center

The acquittal of five Los Angeles police officers in the case of the Rodney King beating sent shockwaves throughout the country. In the city of Los Angeles, four days of rioting broke out with damage estimates which ranged into the millions of dollars. All across the nation protests, rallies, and demonstrations were organized. One such rally took place in the Student Center cafeteria. Organized by student leaders and fully supported by the school administration. Both students and faculty alike were given the opportunity to express their anger and frustration with the verdict. Key speakers included John Fryer, Caroline Dinnegar, David Maxwell, president DeNordis, members of the Black Student Union, and prominent leaders within the African American community.

The Inter Fraternity-Sorority Council is the collective governing body presiding over the greek organizations on campus. It exists to promote camaraderie and a sense of community between its member groups. This year the IFSC took part in several community service projects, underwent a significant internal restructuring, and re-established itself as a potent force on campus.

S.P.A.R.K.

SPARK (Substance, Prevention, Awareness, Responsibility, and Knowledge) is the brainchild of Chyai Mulberg and Lynn De Robertis. A new addition to the UNH community, funded by a grant from the federal government, they work to encourage drug awareness, and implement drug prevention programs on campus. This year SPARK co-sponsored several on campus events with the DSG social committee.

As part of the ORL's continuing efforts to promote alcohol awareness, ORL sponsored its annual alcohol awareness week. For this week-long event, there was information distributed, special programs were held, and a demonstration by a West Haven Police officer on the specific tests used to establish whether someone is DWI. The week's activities culminated with a staged automobile accident. Local Fire, Police, and Rescue personnel arrive on the scene and react as if an actual accident had taken place. From the arrival of the ambulance to the departure of the hearse, it is a graphic representation of the dangers of drunk driving.

Alcohol Awareness Week

The first step you make,
The ground you stand,
The chances you take,
And the chances you let go,
This is where it all begins.

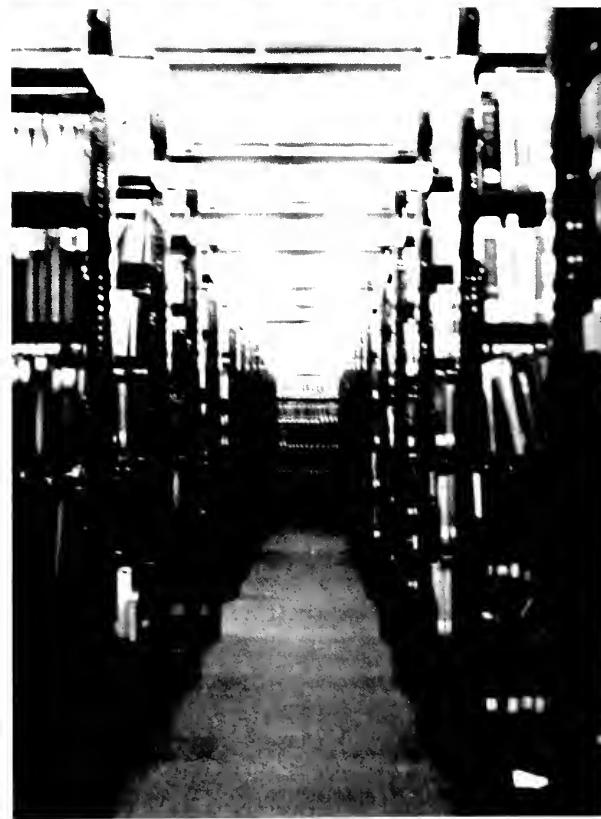

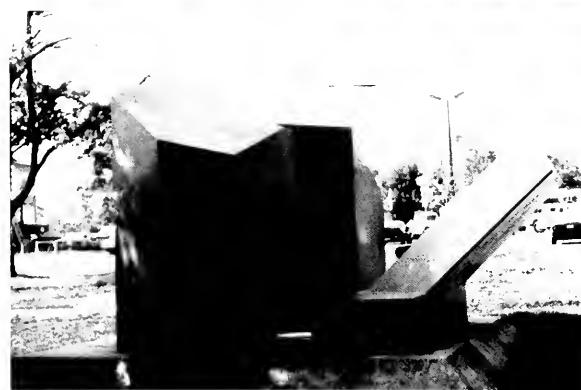

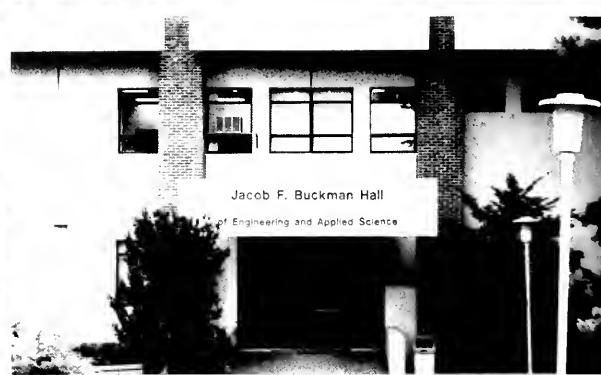

The first man to stand,
The first domino to fall,
The simplest motion,
The engines of change,
This is where it all begins.

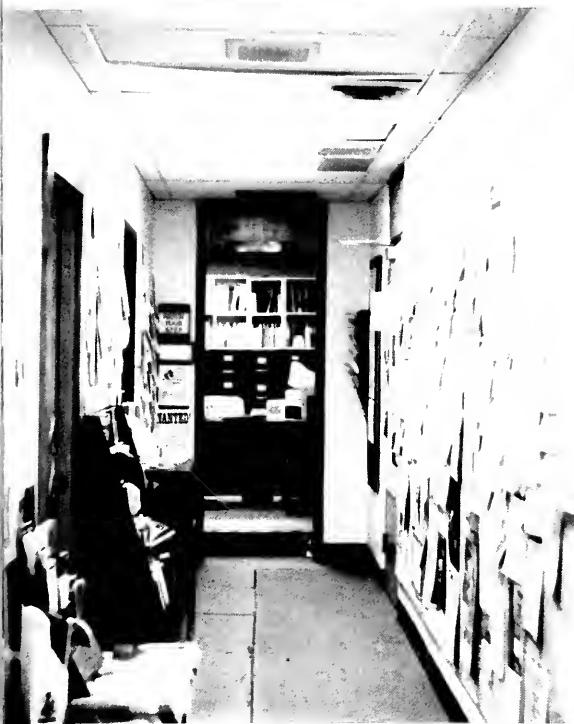

A sturdy old ship,
A new captain at the helm,
The passing of old accomplishments,
The start of new adventures,
This is where it all begins.

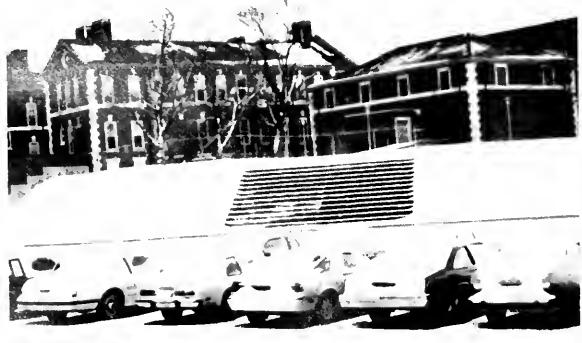

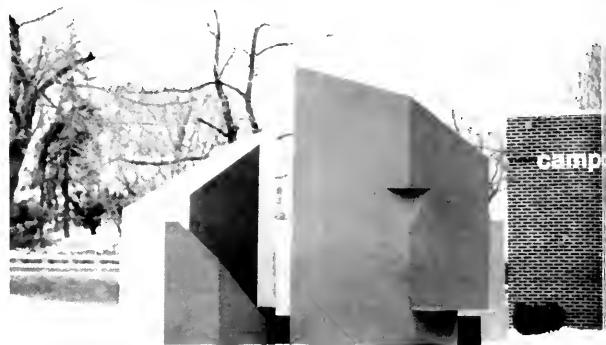

As time draws to a close,
It is good to stop for a while,
Look around you,
And see where you have been.

Every now and again someone comes along who knows how to make things and people work. For some fifteen years, Claire Sorcinelli was the secretary for the Day Student Government. In that time she saw endless students go through the extraordinary growing process which is a college education, in particular a college education with active participation in student government. For the duration of her stay with the DSG, Claire was so much more than a secretary. She was an ear to listen when you needed to talk, a source of enormous wisdom, and a true friend who would go the extra mile when needed.

It's hard to describe the kind of love you grow to feel about someone like this. It was like we all had this community grandmother that any of us could turn to when we needed her. We could spend hours in the DSG office, just listening to her tell us about young men and women who had gone through the same trials and headaches we were going through. Usually these bull sessions would lead to somebody coming up with an idea that made that day's obstacle surmountable. And if it didn't, at least we knew we weren't the only ones who ever felt stymied. Even that is a comfort to know sometimes. Claire has an empathy born of a decade and a half of watching folks mature in, and in large part through, their involvement with the DSG.

But don't get the idea that only a few of us saw Claire in this light. This will be roughly the third yearbook dedicated to her. This is to say nothing about the countless faculty and student awards etc... that she received while she was here. She was a known element (it happens after so many years) and a valued one. She was respected by faculty and administration alike for her unique perspective on what the students were thinking and feeling.

Everyone who knew her owes Claire a debt of gratitude for her understanding of people, her knowledge, and her sometimes uncanny insight into the actual root of a problem. When you work with anyone long enough and get to know them well. When you separate, you always carry a piece of them with you. It's that little cache of shared experience you walk away from any interpersonal dealing. I have carried away a great amount of tolerance and an insight into what effective leadership is from Claire. And I just wanted to thank her personally for that.

Claire always referred to the folks in the DSG as "my kids". Well, speaking on behalf of one of the last generations of your kids, be well, be happy, be prosperous, and never forget that the love you have shown us over the years has changed lot of lives for the better. And although we don't see you as often as we would like to anymore, we carry with us a little cache of your wisdom. I like to think it's been rewarding for you, but the students you knew got the better part of the deal.

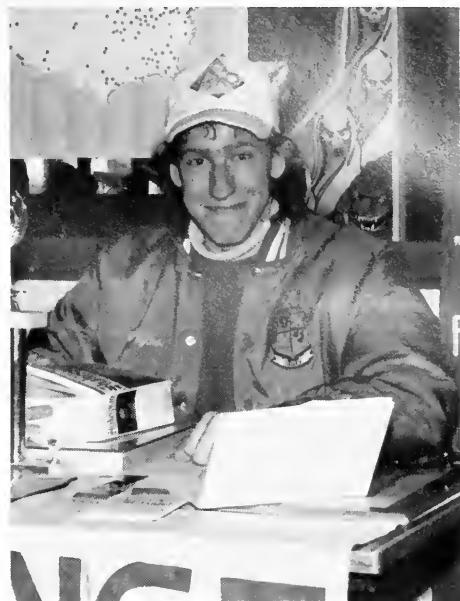

It is with true love and affection that the 1991-92 Chariot is dedicated to Claire Sorcinelli.

It's the third week of March as I sit down to write this. It's a beautiful day outside and I look forward to going out with some of my friends tonight. It's mid afternoon and the parking lot is empty except for my car and a maintenance van. Spring Break is in full swing, and the final stack of pages for this deadline are on my desk, minus one.

To tell you the truth, I've been writing this page for the last eight months. I've labored over who to thank, what to say, and how to say it. How do you capture the essence of something which has been such a huge part of your life? How do I put to bed something which at times I wouldn't have traded for the world and at times would have dropped in a second. In the end there are no words, no pictures, no objects which can fully capture the essence of our past. There are icons, fragments, but no true battery of time. We are left to evaluate, understand, learn, and apply that learning in terms of our continually changing experience.

This book is in theory the story of a year, less than a history, more than an oral tradition. It's about time, memory, and reflection. To me it's been about a challenge, and for the most part, an extremely rewarding experience. This year has taught me how lucky I am to have the friends I have. It's taught me what I really value in this world. It's taught me that if you care enough about something, you can make it happen no matter what the odds. Time gives us with every passing moment the power to remake the world around us. To do what has not been done, to think what has not been thought, to make what has not been made. What's the point of this year's theme? It's about the power to create your future. Where does it all begin, right now, again and again with every passing instant.

There are a whole lot of people who I could thank in particular for helping me out this year. The following list is grossly incomplete, and in parts might seem trivial, but space constraints dictate selectivity. To those not mentioned, thank you. My heart felt thanks and appreciation:

To Bob Sesena, "Band Aid Bob", who made all of our boo boo's go away and showed us boundless understanding and compassion to boot. Thanks a lot, man.

To Mary Hammerstein, My colleague, my friend, my sounding board, and a calm voice of reason when this job made me weird. Thanks for letting me use your office for senior pictures. Thanks for the reality checks.

To Dr. Michael W York for being a teacher, friend, and advisor in every sense of the word. Thanks Doc.

To Alan Schmidt, Game master, proofreader, friend, and bridge partner. Another calm voice in the maelstrom. Can you recommend a good chiropractor for my friend Aran?

To the folks at Yearbook Associates, for your great work on what was often very short notice.

To Sir Edward Coke, If only you knew what you set in motion. Thanks for the ideals, thanks for the dream.

To the brothers of the Delta Chi Fraternity, New Haven Chapter. For being my second family and for showing me what real friendship is all about.

To Mrs. Ann Mosini, for not strangleing me every time I had to reschedule Senior pictures.

To the Communications Board, and The Day Student Government Executive Board: For forcing me to examine my values, and decide what's worth fighting for in this world.

To Clair Sordinelli, For three years of friendship, guidance, and understanding. Your absence is deeply felt around here. I miss you a lot, even though I don't get to talk to or see you as often as I'd like. This one's for you.

To Neil Peart, Jim Henson, Jean Paul Sartre, Allen Moore, Frank Herbert, Bertolt Brecht, Robin Williams, Sir Lawrence Olivier, Erich Fromm, C.G. Jung, Carl Rogers, Albert Ellis, Frank Miller, and Irvin Yalom, for the humanity, for the inspiration.

To Jeremy Levin, for giving me a glimpse of your "Big Picture" and for showing me the value of hope.

To the security department, for not kicking me out of the office when I was working late into the night on one thing or another.

To Chief Old Dog, the Outlaw, Wiseguy, Mope, Doug Rowley, and Gregory Stewart, for the lessons in responsibility, and showing me how to run things right.

Special Thanks also to: The Questors, April Burns, Down Festa, Tim Lowell, Lisa Paterno, Emily O'Graughlin, Matt Scinto, Tatiana Arias, Mario Longobardi, and Eric K, for making this a more fun place to be.

To my mother JoAnne, for showing me by example what it is to be a strong human being.

To my father Leon (1935-1992), for what you gave me in life, for what you left me in your passing.

To Arthur + Sue, Bernadette, Randy + Rachel, Jim, Mike, Monique, Victor, Laurette, Paula, Rosemarie, Michael + Linde, Roland, Kacy, Ronnie, David, Cecilia + Gary, Patty, Meme + Pepe, and anyone else whose name I missed, you guys know what for.

“ To Eric,

Congratulations! You did it. We are all very proud of you. We know you will be successful.

Love,

Mom, Dad, Linda, and Stephanie ”

“ Jim,

You always believed in yourself, and now that determination has payed off. Congrats!

Your older brother ”

“ Bill,

It's time to spread your wings and glide where the winds will take you. You've worked very hard, and it's time to start making things happen.

Love,

Mom, Ruth, and Lisa ”

“ Amy,

GET OUT THERE AND START WORKING! (Just kidding) Congratulations! It's all over, and it's time to get moving. I'm sure you'll do well.

Love,

Christina ”
